

I understand that broadcasting local information like traffic and weather could be considered a violation. But consider this, XM is not limiting that broadcast to a local area only at this time. There is not one traffic/weather channel that we listen to getting local broadcasting only. As it is there is a channel for each metro area allowing subscribers to listen to weather/traffic for any metro area nationwide. XM has always carried the Weather Channel on its programing, They carry weather information for metro areas. Why is this not a violation? I am not writting in support of letting XM or Sirius send local only broadcasting in local areas only. As long as a broadcast is carried nationally, then there should be no problems.
